

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A security-protected hard disk apparatus prevents illegal access by providing a container with substance that renders the magnetic storage medium unreadable or useless in the enclosure that houses the magnetic storage medium in response to opening of the enclosure.